Attention: Kyle and Craig Smith

This letter is to confirm and recognize the relationship that Vanbots holds with Whitewater developments. Last year I was facing a very difficult construction project that was full of complicated and near impossible requirements. You were referred to me from one of our superintendents as a company that could handle a project like the one I was facing. I am very pleased to confirm that your company proposed intuitive solutions and completed the project in a professional manner in light of the many obstacles. We appreciate the team approach in which the project was completed. I have no problem confirming that your company is very capable and professional in the way you conduct business. I dont think I have come across another company in your field that possesses the level of quality management that you have proven to our firm. We look forward to seeing your company become a leader in its field, and we looking forward to working on future projects with you.
